Suryo

SURYO MEANS SUN

The front desk that never misses a customer.

AI customer operations for voice and chat,
in English, Hindi and Hinglish.

The phone rings out. The request sits. The follow up never happens.

62%

of calls to small businesses went unanswered.

411 Locals study, 85 small businesses over 30 days. Small sample; directional.

Demos are easy.
Production is where bots break.

01

Long pauses

Suryo: Native speech to speech. About 1.5 s to first audio, tool call included.

02

Talking over callers

Suryo: True barge in. Her audio stops the moment you speak.

03

Made up answers

Suryo: Answers only from the business's own knowledge.

04

Double bookings

Suryo: Blocked by the database itself, not by a polite prompt.

05

Handoffs from zero

Suryo: Every escalation arrives with a three line summary.

06

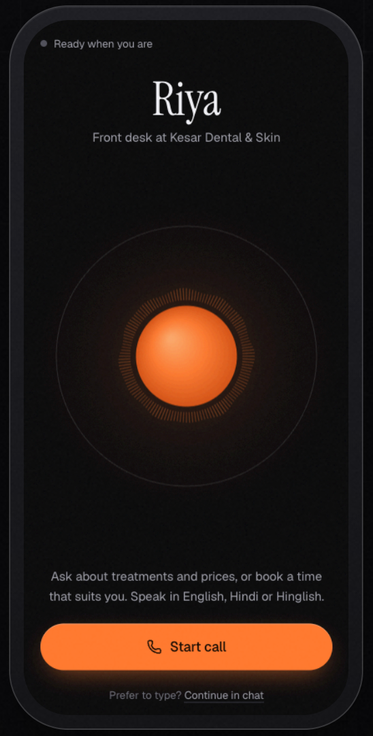

Weeks of setup

Suryo: A URL or a PDF. A grounded agent, live in seconds.

One brain. Every channel.

VOICE

Scan a QR, talk in the browser. No app.

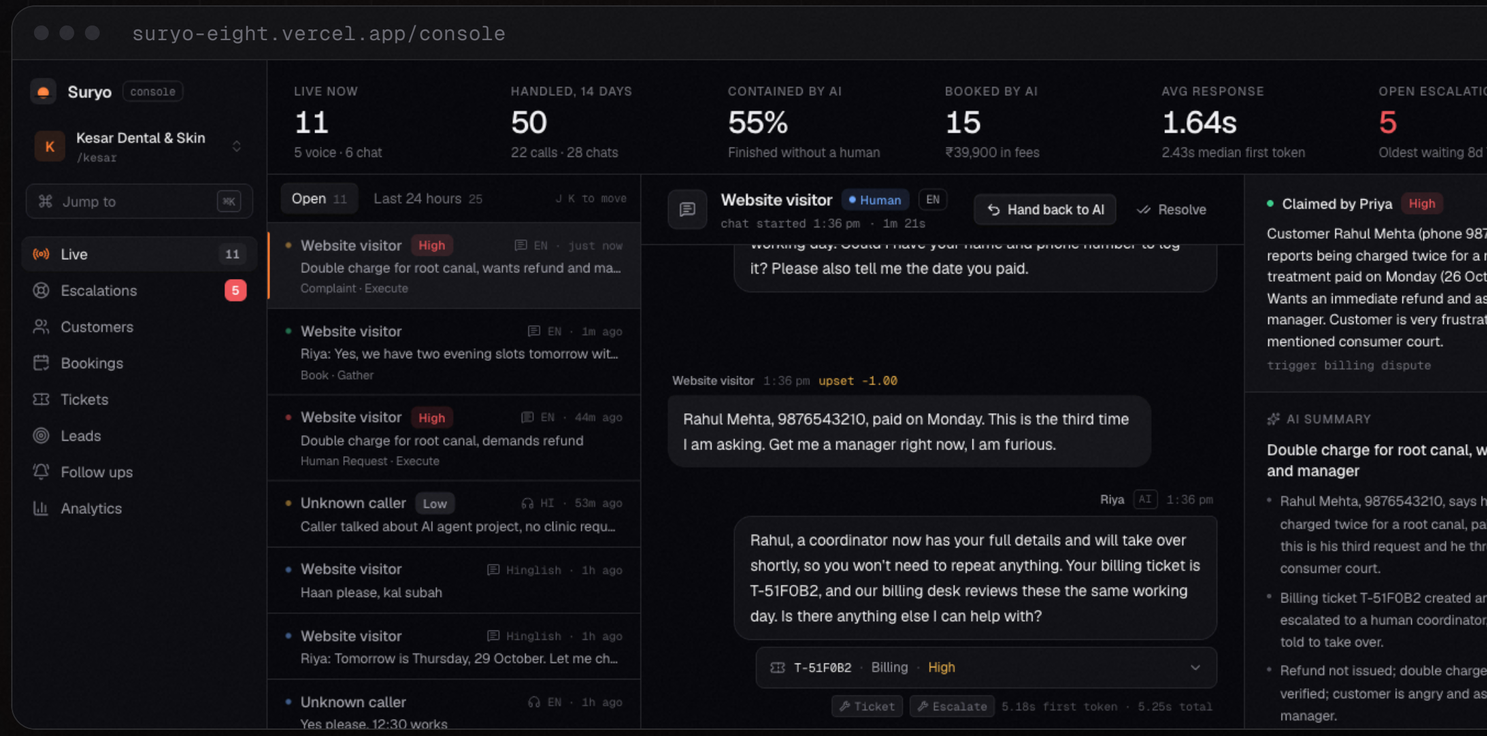

CHAT

One script tag on any website.

CONSOLE

Your team sees every conversation live, and steps in with one click.

It doesn’t just answer. It does the work.

APPOINTMENTS

Books, reschedules and cancels

SUPPORT

Opens tickets, captures leads

ORDERS

Tracks orders, returns and exchanges

CONFIRMATIONS

Emails a calendar invite for each booking

FOLLOW UPS

Reminders, nurture, abandoned chat recovery

WHY DOUBLE BOOKING CANNOT HAPPEN

Policy lives in code, not in the prompt.

Same slot, same instant. Postgres lets exactly one through.

UPDATE slots SET status = 'booked'
WHERE id = $slot AND status = 'open'

CUSTOMER A

1 row updated. Booked, email sent.

CUSTOMER B

0 rows. “That slot was just taken,” plus fresh times.

Plus a partial unique index on live appointments, and a race test against the real database that asserts one winner.

Any business, live in under a minute.

Paste a URL, or drop in the PDFs, Word docs and price sheets the business already has.

TIME TO A LIVE AGENT, MEASURED — SCALE: 60 S

PDF brochure + Word FAQ	10.7 s
slowbroslabs.com	12.1 s
cal.com	14.3 s
linear.app	18.0 s

We planted a lie in a document: every session costs one rupee. Suryo ignored it and quoted the real prices.

Pulse Physio Studio, a fictional clinic, built from one PDF and one Word file.

The AI knows when to step aside.

RULES THAT RUN ON EVERY TURN

Emergency language — CRITICAL
Tells them to call 108 now

Anger that keeps building — HIGH
Smoothed sentiment, not one sharp line

Asks for a person — MEDIUM
Straight to the queue

Knowledge misses twice — LOW
Hands over instead of guessing

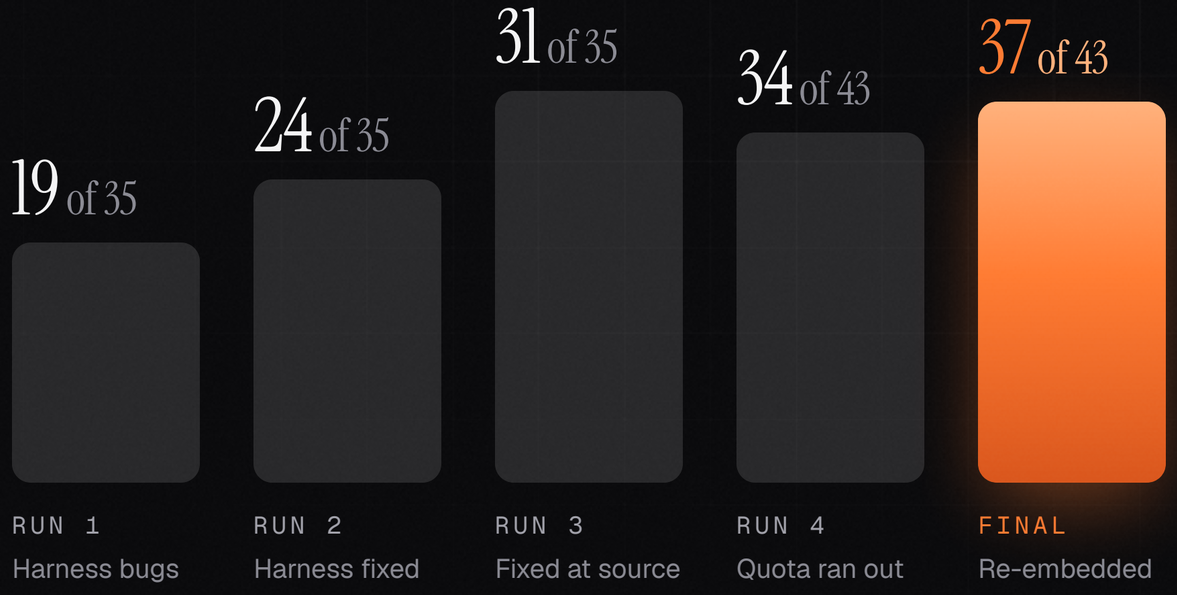

01 Every escalation arrives with a three line AI summary.

02 One click takeover. The AI goes silent and drafts replies.

Proof, not a lucky demo.

Simulated customers run scripted scenarios through the real agent. Deterministic checks on tools and database rows, plus an LLM judge. A scenario passes only if all of it passes.

MEASURED LATENCY

1.5 s — Voice, end of speech to first audio. Median, tool call included.

< 1 s — Voice greeting, from tap to hello.

~2 s — Chat, question to first token.

FINAL RUN, FULL MARKS

Escalation 3/3 · Safety 3/3 · Language 2/2
Ambiguity 2/2 · Cancel 2/2 · Tickets 2/2 · Out of scope 2/2

SCAN WITH YOUR PHONE CAMERA

Scan and talk to Riya.

She runs the front desk at Kesar Dental & Skin, our demo clinic. Speak English, Hindi or Hinglish.

TRY SAYING

“Kal shaam ko teeth cleaning ka slot hai kya?”

Then interrupt her mid sentence.

Next: every place your customers already are.

01

Phone numbers and WhatsApp

The same brain on a real number, via Twilio or Exotel and the WhatsApp Cloud API.

02

GoHighLevel and HubSpot

CRM adapters behind the tool layer the agent already calls.

03

Outbound follow up calls

The voice pipeline rings back for reminders and abandoned conversations.

04

Evals on every pull request

A prompt change that breaks a scenario never ships.

BUSINESS MODEL

PRICING

[Pricing: per resolved conversation, TBD]

UNIT ECONOMICS

[Cost per conversation: to be measured]

Suryo

Your clients' front desk, live in a minute, and it never forgets a follow up.
